Paul Nagy : II Chronicles Of Good Will Home 1990 - 2012 before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised II Chronicles Of Good Will Home 1990 - 2012:

II CHRONICLES OF GOOD WILL HOME 1990 2012 II CHRONICLES OF GOOD WILL HOME 1990 2012 is the record of the demise of the wonderful Good Will Home in Hinckley, Maine. After the deaths of the Founder George Walter Hinckley and his son Walter Palmer Hinckley, the Board of Directors, changed the mission of Good Will from providing a home and an education for children to an expensive prep school and they failed disastrously. The alumni attempted to return to the true mission of preventive childcare for children in need of a home but again scrupulous Directors, staff and some alumni again changed the mission to government reform and treatment programs. The Governor, legislature, Attorney General, traitorous alumni, and a host of others ignored the years of designated contributions and the heritage and great contributions of Good Will to the State of Maine. They also failed miserably until the doors closed and parts of the campus were sold. The loyal opposition was ignored by all as were the local citizens and contributors who opposed the abuse of this grand community of homes for children.

About the AuthorII CHRONICLES OF GOOD WILL HOME 1990 2012 Paul Nagy grew up at the Good Will Home in Hinckley, Maine. The intervention of Good Will Home in his life was so profound that at the age of 71 he felt constrained to write II Chronicles of Good Will Home 1990 2012. Mr. Nagy has worked for many years to get the Board of Directors and the alumni to save the Good Will Home and restore it back to its true mission of providing a home and a helping hand to homeless children under the preventive childcare program created and practiced by its Founder, Dr. George Walter Hinckley called The Good Will Idea. Mr. Nagy lives in his home in Ohio where he has been a minister, businessman and entrepreneur.
