Philip Alston, Ryan Goodman : International Human Rights before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised International Human Rights:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy CustomerVery thorough book for an international law class and human rights. Fairly in depth, dense, and well divided.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great WorkBy AngaiThis is perhaps the most comprehensive compilation on International Human Rights available. The research is top notch and the writing simple.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great product. Thank youBy Kuruvilla MathenAll expectations met. Great product. Thank you.

The definitive work in the field, International Human Rights provides a comprehensive analysis of this wide and diverse subject area. Written by world-renowned scholars Philip Alston and Ryan Goodman, this book is the successor to the widely acclaimed International Human Rights in Context. Alston and Goodman have chosen a wide selection of materials from primary and secondary sources--legislation, case law, and academic writings--in order to demonstrate and illuminate key themes. They carefully guide students through each extract with thoughtful and lucid commentary. Questions are posed throughout the book in order to encourage deeper reflection and critical enquiry. A Companion Website features additional resources, including the first three chapters of the book, available for download.

"Anyone looking for a stimulating and engaging account of the current state of the art in relation to the international regime governing human rights should look no further than International Human Rights."--Student Law Journal"The most stimulating book that I know of in the field of human rights."--Georges Abi-Saab, Graduate Institute of International Studies, Geneva "Imaginative and stimulating materials with thought-provoking commentary. A wonderful teaching tool, as well as a valuable starting point for research."--Hilary Charlesworth, Australian National University
