NickelActually, I hate ITAR!While you and I can't do squat, the President and Secretary of State can sell guns and worse to anyone they please, like Libyan "rebels" in 2010 and Syrian "rebels" in 2012.The book, however, is very informative and scares the hell out of anyone with friends that live outside the country or with friends who aren't citizens. Yup, you can go to jail for 10 years or more if you sell a gun to a foreign national without getting approval from Secretary of State. Oh, and if you teach someone to shoot who isn't a US citizen, you can go to jail for that, too. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good Important book but unfortunately the print is smaller than the previous version we had in (2010) also in the previous version was that the binding was made of wire/spiral coil. Book material is not made well, meaning the binding bottom is ripped the cover has smudges due to the fact of inferior made paper; where it should have been laminated. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Updated September 2016. From DDTC "Any person who engages in the United States in the business of either manufacturing or exporting defense articles or furnishing defense services is required to register..." ITAR "It is the contractor's responsibility to comply with all applicable laws and regulations regarding export-controlled items." DFAR Companies that provide defense goods and services need to know the rules; the ITAR provides the answers. The International Traffic in Arms Regulation (ITAR) is the defense product and service provider's guide book for knowing when and how to obtain an export license. This book provides answers to: Which defense contractors should register with the DDTC? Which defense commodities require export licenses? Which defense services require export licenses? What are corporate and government export responsibilities? What constitutes an export? How does one apply for a license or technical assistance agreement?
