

Learning at Work: How to Support Individual and Organizational Learning

Bridgett O'Conner, Chester Delaney, Michael Bronner
audiobook / *ebooks / Download PDF / ePub / DOC

#3608214 in Books HRD Press, Inc. 2007-03-15 2007-03-15 Original language: English PDF # 1 9.69 x .98 x 7.44l, 1.92 #File Name: 1599960567432 pages | File size: 51.Mb

Bridgett O'Conner, Chester Delaney, Michael Bronner : Learning at Work: How to Support Individual and Organizational Learning before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Learning at Work: How to Support Individual and Organizational Learning:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Book QualityBy Dee MoonThis book was poorly bounded. It falls apart easily when one tries to read it. I am in a graduate class of over 20 students and most everyone told me that the book was cheaply bounded and it was going to fall apart. I didn't believe it until I opened the new book and before I could get to chapter two good, the glue or binding tape or whatever was pulling apart. It's sad it was bound this way. Seems so it can not be sold back. Furthermore, the book was somewhat dry. However, some of the models or information in the appendixes was useful.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Purchased for my son's college courseBy MJ79Have not read. Purchased for my son since his college bookstore was out of stock. As always it arrived from on time and in good condition.

This valuable guide will help both newcomers and seasoned professionals fulfill their many roles and create rewarding careers in the dynamic field of workplace learning. Special updates to this new edition include additional topics and new Voices from the Fieldinterviews with workplace learning professionals who offer their insights, experiences and perspectives.

About the AuthorBridget N. O'Connor, is Professor of Higher Education and Business Education. She is particularly interested in adult learners and in the transfer of learning from the classroom to the workplace. Professor O'Connor has published dozens of articles in Journal of Education for Business, Informing Science, Journal of Organizational Computing and Electronic Commerce, and NABTE . She has also authored or coauthored numerous yearbook chapters for the NBEA Yearbook. With colleagues from Australia and England, Professor O'Connor is an editor of the just-released Sage Handbook of Workplace Learning. She is also the co-author of several books, most recently Learning at Work: How to Support Individual and Organizational Learning (HRD Press. 2007), Training for Organizations 2nd edition (Cincinnati: South-Western Educational Publishing Co., 2002), and End-user Information Systems: Implementing Individual and Work Group Technologies 2nd edition (Upper Saddle River, NJ: Prentice Hall, 2002). These books are supplemented with CD-ROM and Web-based instructor's manuals. She has been a leader in a variety of professional associations, including the SIG Workplace Learning of AERA, which she chaired in 2000-2001; the American Society for Training and Development; and the Organizational Systems Research Association (OSRA). In addition to being its journal editor, she has been OSRA's president, chaired its two national curriculum projects, and served as vice president for publications.